

Spiš Castle

Beautiful Hedwig

One of the legends says that in the torture chamber of Spiš castle, several soldiers of the castle garrison were cruelly tortured, who neglected their duty...

Many years ago, a powerful lord Filip, who had a wonderful wife, lived in the castle. Out of their great love, a baby girl was born, whom they named Barbora. However, beautiful wife is dead.

Little Barbora was taken care of by Mr. Filip's single sister, the venerable beauty Hedwig. During one of the hunts, Filip accidentally shot a little boy in the woods. He was the son of a Polish nobleman. He swore revenge on Filip.

Filip loved his daughter immensely, and therefore, when he went with his whole retinue for another of the many hunts, he ordered that no one is allowed into the castle. In the meantime, Poliak hired an army of robber knights, with whom we drew to Spiš castle. He wanted to conquer him and take revenge on little Barborka. But Spiš castle was militarily impregnable and that is why Polish nobleman invented a trick.

He gave the order to retreat, but from the army, he chose the most beautiful soldier who knew how to sing and play a musical instrument. He disguised him as a wandering singer, a game player, and sent him to the castle, when he appeared in front of the main entrance gate the next day, no one realized that he was a disguised enemy.

He was let into the castle. And what didn't happen? Hedwig fell in love with him. She forgot about little Barbora. One evening, the Igric opened a secret door to the castle, letting in several enemy soldiers who had kidnapped Barbora from the castle. They run away with her and with Igric .

When Hedwig recovered from the intoxication of love, it was too late. Mr. Filip has returned from the hunt. When he learned what had happened, he was caught in uncontrollable fury. He tortured the castle garrison and wanted to punish the unfortunate Hedwig. However, she has already been punished sufficiently. She lost her mind and jumped from the castle tower. The unhappy Mr. Filip never saw his daughter again. Hedwig is said to be wandering the castle even tonight wandering Barborka's name, hoping to find her.

